

Tenure Track Assistant Professor Position in Cognitive Science

The Department of Psychology at Mississippi State University is seeking to fill a tenure-track Assistant Professor position with an anticipated start date of August 16, 2017. We are interested in candidates whose research focuses on any area of cognitive psychology/cognitive science concerned with mechanisms of human cognition. The department houses doctoral programs in both cognitive science and clinical psychology. The successful candidate will serve as a core member of the cognitive science program and will maintain a program of scholarly research, teach undergraduate and graduate courses, and supervise graduate student research. Applicants must have a Ph.D. in psychology, cognitive science, or closely related field at the time of appointment.

Mississippi State University has an enrollment of approximately 21,000 students. The Department of Psychology houses 20 tenured/tenure track faculty as well as 40 doctoral students. Located in the "Golden Triangle Regional" technology and manufacturing corridor of the state, we offer a diverse, welcoming, and vibrant community. Mississippi State University was named a "Great College to Work For" by the Chronicle of Higher Education in 2016, and the university is designated by the National Science Foundation as a top 100 research university. The department has a number of existing ties to collaborative university research institutes including the University's neuroimaging research center (which houses a 3.0T MRI and EEG/ERP facilities), to the Center for Advanced Vehicular Systems, and to the Social Science Research Center.

Interested applicants must apply online at www.msujobs.msstate.edu (search for job #493879) and attach a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research and teaching statements, up to three pre/reprints, and the complete contact information for at least three professional references. Have at least three letters of recommendation sent directly to the search committee chair, Dr. Jarrod Moss, at jarrod.moss@msstate.edu. Review of applications will begin November 15, 2016, but applications will be accepted until the position is filled. MSU is an equal opportunity employer, and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, ethnicity, sex (including pregnancy and gender identity), national origin, disability status, age, sexual orientation, genetic information, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law. We always welcome nominations and applications from women, members of any minority group, and others who share our passion for building a diverse community that reflects the diversity in our student population.
